Report

Dr. B. Manivannan, Former Professor and Head, Dept. of English, V.O.C. College, Thoothukudi in his Expert Talk on “Theories for Re-reading Texts” on 28th February 2022 focused on the significance of Literary studies, and in particular foregrounding theory that provides a theoretical framework which would help the scholars conceptualize the nature of literary effects. He also suggested, the fact that previous research has found comprehension of a text increases upon rereading points to the possibility that texts are not processed in their entirety on first reading. Because fewer disruptions occur in text base processing upon second reading, readers can relocate their cognitive resources, enabling them to construct a more complete situation model upon second reading. He opined that the readers would understand the text better or more fully and acquire higher levels of meta-comprehension accuracy. X. Angel, 2019-21 batch of PG was honoured by the Principal and the faculty of the department of English for winning the award “NPTEL Discipline Star” from SWAYAM-NPTEL, the only student to receive the award from the Southern states of India. Ms. M. Apshan, III BA English Literature was honoured for winning the “Topper of Top 5” award from SWAYAM-NPTEL for the online course “Short Fiction in Indian Literature.” Toppers of NPTEL courses and Shakespeare Talent Exam received the awards. Ms. X. Amala Steffi, Assistant Professor of English received the award for guiding the students to perform meritoriously in the Shakespeare Talent Exam. 162 students and 16 faculty took part in the meeting.
